MEMBERS SPEAK ABOUT NACFLM

NACFLM has been a guiding light to the Office of Family in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles for the past 27 years. Their collaborative efforts across the United States and the resources they have developed help guide us daily in our mission to strengthen marriage and family life.

Joan Vienna, Director
Office of Family Life, Los Angeles, CA

The Regional NACFLM Meeting is like going to a family reunion. I get to see and learn from other members (my mentors) what ministry they are involved with. The sharing of resources is a good way to know what is available that can help us in our ministry. I have gained so much from NACFLM's resources.

Rev. Daniel Ramirez-Portugal, Pastor
Immaculate Heart of Mary, Parish, Encinal TX

For anyone concerned with helping families, NACFLM is the organization which will provide you not only with professional development but also a network of colleagues and friends. The organization is not stuffy or esoteric...it is ordinary in the best sense of that word...it has a big heart!

David Michael Thomas, General Editor,
Family Life, Benziger Publishing

In NACFLM, I have met others interested in the work that interests me. I have met people of depth and empathy, people with great joy and wisdom, all of whom have made my own work easier and better informed. I belong to other professional organizations and they are good, but it is really the fellowship in NACFLM that has made it stand out.

Kathy Beirne
Publisher, Foundations Marriage Newsletter

For the 30 years that NACFLM has been my primary professional organization, I have learned much about family ministry through its conferences and other gatherings and communications. But even more, NACFLM is a band of fun, vital, deeply spiritual and committed people. I can't imagine my ministry or my life without them.

Dr. Jim Healy, Director
Office of Family Ministry, Diocese of Joliet, IL

Members of my region exchange ideas and suggestions, and we also have had professional webinars and trainings that enrich our office staff. In NACFLM, I feel that I have a family to go to for advice and encouragement. There is a real cry for help from families today, and NACFLM members are coming together to fill the gap.

Kathy Schmugge, Director of Family Life
Diocese of Charleston, SC
