The Social Science of The Intact Married Family That Worships God Weekly: New One Pager Product

Please join us on Thursday, September 21st at 1:00 PM EST for a presentation about MARRI project on the One Pager (Church bulletin insert or web insert) on educating US (and Roman Catholics who worship weekly first) that the Intact Married Family That Worships Weekly is the core strength of the US on every measure measured in the US federal data system.

Objectives for Presentation:

- The simple Social Science data on the American people
- Natural Law taught in this data -- very clearly
- Man is made to love -- both those close to him and God. On these he thrives.

Procedure for Participants:

Patrick F. Fagan, Ph.D. has been a grade school and college teacher, a therapist specializing in child, family and marital issues, executive director of a small think tank, a Senate staffer, the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Family and Social Policy at HHS under President George Herbert Bush, a Senior Fellow of Family and Culture at the Heritage Foundation, and founder and Director of the Marriage and Religion Research Initiative (www.MARRI.us) first at Family Research Council, now at The Catholic University of America. The thread of continuity in all these has been a pursuit of ways to help the family thrive. He is publisher and editor of Marripedia.org, and the weekly Faith and Family Findings, and has authored over thirty synthesis papers and has commissioned from others dozens of original research projects in marriage, family, child development and religious practice. He and his wife Theresa have eight children and twelve grandchildren.
